

How often have you read a professional journal and taken away a great idea that helped you, your teachers, your students? Now it's time to give back. Take a look at the editorial calendar below and consider if you have best practices to share with your peers.

We are proud that each issue of LMC has something for every school level and a wide range of school library issues and topics. Do send in your article or article outline even (and especially) if it is not covered below.

What topics make great articles?

- Sound budget and planning strategies
- Practical information, field-tested tips, and resource implementation ideas
- Reproducibles and handouts
